Dear Dr. Fogel:

Last weekend...has taught me, therefore you...something most significant. Let's look at it:

Unluckyas Lose (or T)

Win

Jets	Cowboys	Oilers
Dolphins	Falcons	Colts
(Bears & Broncos	Patriots	Chargers
didn't get score)	Redskins	Rams
	Eagles	Chiefs

(Score: 3-11)

As you know...this lopsided happening is a first.

Well, something happened to me...which, significantly, could have caused this first. Cause: I was deeply emotionally upset and even mentally confused...a rarity for me. Usually am a rock of steady, firm emotion and never mentally confused. BUT... the preceding Monday my ex-wife suddenly sent to me my 20 year old son, whom I hadn't seen in years. The boy had used dope...LSD and other things...and ruined his mind. His behavior and thinking patterns are confused; unpredictable, jumbled. Well, all week long I tried to be patient with him and fit him into our family pattern here. (My ex-wife sent him to me because she said she thinks I am the only person in the world who might get him back on his feet. He was going to a psychiatrist in Seattle, and a special mental clinic there.) (He's on medication which has to be given; which is fights taking...also.) All right. From Monday through the weekend of the games...I was going in circles with my son...trying to calm him down; trying to get him to take his medication; having new glasses made for him 20 miles away; buying him clothes. But the point is...he was having trouble adjusting to my wife, plus sibling rivalry re my 9 year old and 9 mos. old children here...and so forth. God, it was hell! By now, things are going smoother. I've found a method of getting him to take his twice-daily medication (by getting him to give me cough syrup first) and things are better adjusted. However...this negative-influence-factor, I am sure...resulted in last weekends wipe-out re my work...which had never occurred before. Do you see? Therefore: it is quite obvious to me...that my state of mind, freedom of thought, degree of uninterrupted concentration...are absolutely necessary to my usage of psi-force. If you will remember... when I got pneumonia last season...my games fell off then, also. That is, my PK ability waned, in results. So, although it was a bad bad week for me...in PK results...it was a good good week for us, scientifically speaking...in understanding better how the psi-force works. And...it showed.

Tomorrow...Saturday...will do my best to beat the Colts. I've done too well in injuring Griese, Czonka and Warfield...they are badly hurt. Now I need them. Dam. Griese's left arm is in a sling; Czonka hurts in five different places; don't know the exact nature of Warfield's injury...it is just bad. And they are necessary to beat the Colts. Sunday: Cardinals to beat the Eagles; 49'rs to beat the At. ~~Reds~~ Falcons; Packers to beat the Bears; Giants to beat the Cowboys; don't care Chargers-Broncos; Bills to beat the Oilers; Patriots to beat the Jets; Raiders to beat KC Chiefs. Monday: Redskins to beat the Rams.

If you read current Saga...then read newspapers day mag hit the stands...then you know Bob Berry, QB of Falcons...was arrested at a dope party! The day before Bill Kilmer, QB of Redskins, was arrested for being drunk in public. Fascinating! And on 11/29/71 Jurgenson, QB of Redskins, was quoted: "I must be snake bit. I'm tired of being injured." His shoulder was reinjured last week.)

Re my Space-Skies PK: 12/6 "Spy Satellite" out of Cape K exploded at launch; our Mars probe has been blocked by "dust storms"; and the Russ landed a probe on Mars whereupon the probe promptly stopped sending! Went dead. (12/8/71). I am using various psi-force mechanisms to deliberately cause the above effects...and more.

Best...

Ted Owens (PK Man)
